

An Old, Family Cough Remedy, Home-Made

Easily Prepared—Costs Very Little, but is Prompt, Sure and Effective

By making this pint of old-time cough syrup at home you not only save about $2, as compared with the ready-made kind, but you will also have a much more prompt and positive remedy in every way. It overcomes the usual coughs, throat and chest colds in 24 hours—relieves even whooping cough quickly—and is excellent, too, for bronchitis, bronchial asthma, hoarseness and spasmodic croup.

Get from any drug store 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Full directions with Pinex. Keeps perfectly and tastes good.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. It quickly loosens the dry, hoarse or painful cough and heals the inflamed membranes. It also has a remarkable effect in overcoming the persistent loose cough by stopping the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes.

The effect of Pinex on the membranes is known by almost every one. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract combined with guaiacum and other natural healing pine elements.

There are many worthless imitations of this famous mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex," and do not accept anything else.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PURIFYING THE ADV.

Important Problem for the Trade Commission

WORST OF UNFAIR COMPETITION

Representatives of Advertising Clubs Given Hearing To-day

Washington, Nov. 23.—To-day the interstate trade commission will confer with representatives of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America, who will place before the commission evidence tending to show that dishonest advertising is among unfair methods of competition and should be dealt with by the federal government. If the advertising men make specific complaints as to concrete cases, the trade commission will be forced to take up the question.

The hearing to-day will be one of the last at which the commission gives its attention to the presentation of views in the abstract. Ever since its organization, the trade commission has been holding both formal and informal hearings at practically every line of business in the country have discussed the needs of their particular lines. As yet but few specific complaints have been lodged with the commission. Members of that body feel, however, that the time has arrived for them to deal with particular cases as they arise.

Although the advertising men are late in obtaining a hearing, the commission for many weeks has been giving consideration to the relation of dishonest advertising to unfair competition. Members informally have reached the conclusion that it is one of the worst forms of unfair competition, and they are now prepared to make their views known. The congressional committees which had charge of both the Clayton and federal trade commission acts believed that dishonest advertising was one of the worst forms of unfair competition. Attorneys throughout the country, however, differ on the question. N. B. Williams, a Washington attorney who was associated with the House judiciary committee while the trust programme was under consideration, said yesterday, however, that he regarded dishonest advertising as the basis of unfair competition. Mr. Williams points out that already more than 30 states have laws making untrue, misleading, or deceptive statements of fact in advertising punishable by the criminal courts. "This is supplemental," he continued, "to the civil remedy of those misled and of the right of every trader to protect himself against unfair competition carried on by the same means. These state laws apply only to commerce carried on within a state."

While members of the trade commission are of the opinion that dishonest advertising is a form of unfair competition, they are not willing to attempt a censorship of advertising matter. They believe their work is done when they pass on specific complaints brought before them. Thus while conceding the abstract principle involved in the proposition, they will insist that complainants prove their charge in each particular case.

CARRANZA MOBILIZES ANEW.

Gathers Troops in Northern Mexico for Crushing Campaign.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Carranza's military forces are being mobilized in northern Mexico for a pretentious campaign to completely crush Villa and his chief aides. The state department has granted permission to General Obregon to move 2,000 Carranza troops across American soil, from Piedras Negras to Douglas, to join the main army of Obregon.

Official dispatches confirmed Villa's route near Hermosillo. A large part of his army has successfully retreated to Nogales. Army officers believe Nogales will be abandoned as Villa's base in fear of being pushed over the American border and interned. Many Villista deserters are coming into the United States.

Fifty Americans and much valuable American mining property are threatened at Cananea, where General Rodriguez and Villa troops are said to be besieged.

No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval. Every druggist sells Resinol Ointment (50c. and $1.00), and Resinol Soap (25c.). They do wonders for pimples, blackheads, dandruff and chafings, and are a comfort to skin-tortured babies.

BABY BOLLINGER ANGEL IN HEAVEN, SAYS WEE CRIPPLE

"We're in Everyone's Road but Mother's," Writes a Little Girl to Dr. Haiselden.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—Dr. H. J. Haiselden, who refused to operate on Baby Bollinger, the defective infant, yesterday accepted a letter which he said, clinched his belief he was right more than any one of the hundreds reaching him. Here is part of the missive, written in cramped, childish letters:

"Dear Dr. Haiselden: Just a line from a little crippled girl, thanking you for not letting that baby live, and I know God will be good to you too, for I know how it is, from my own experience and other little cripple children our hearts all ways aches—we can't play or walk or dance like other children we are in everyone's road but mother's—and her poor heart aches with ours—we are just a curiosity for people to gaze at. Tell Mrs. Bollinger she is a grand good mother and her baby is an angel in a beautiful place—heaven. Why does people want to keep me and that little baby out of heaven? I remain your little invalid ready to go to heaven anytime."

GIRL IMMURED TWELVE YEARS BREAKS SILENCE

Grace Marshall Speaks for First Time Since Her Liberation Friday From Room in Father's Home—Asks for an Apple.

Easton, Md., Nov. 23.—Grace Marshall, the young woman whose father and stepmother are charged with having imprisoned her in their home near St. Michaels, for nearly 12 years, spoke yesterday for the first time since her liberation last Friday. She asked for an apple as she saw on the table of her room in her aunt's home, where she is under the care of a physician.

Miss Marshall was imprisoned, it is alleged, after attempting to elope, at the age of 16, with a man of whom her father disapproved. Relatives thought her dead.

Marshall said she considered the girl crazy, and that as he could not afford to send her to an institution he thought the only thing to do was to lock her in her room. When released she weighed but 57 pounds.

Marshall is said to have admitted that the woman's stepmother was the only person who had seen her during the last three years.

The representatives of the local Children's Aid society, through whose instrumentality Miss Marshall was liberated, was expected to lay the case before the state's attorney yesterday.

CHOOSING A LAXATIVE

In treating chronic constipation, harsh cathartics should be avoided. A mild laxative should be used until regular habits are established and then gradually discontinued.

All laxatives are not equally safe and efficient. Some act quickly but in the end increase the constipation. Others cause intestinal colic, inflammation of the bowels and nausea. Oil and salts should not be used regularly.

Pinkettes, the little pink laxative granules, are safe under any and all conditions, do not conflict with other medicines and form an ideal laxative to keep in the house ready for use when required.

Pinkettes will be sent by mail at 25 cents per bottle by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if your druggist cannot supply you.

TRY THIS IF HAIR STARTS FALLING

Some Good Advice for Those Threatened with Baldness

At this season of the year many people find their hair coming out at an alarming rate and often fear baldness. This may very easily be the ultimate result if proper scalp treatment is not taken at once. All excessive loss of hair can be almost immediately stopped by the use twice daily of a little Parisian Sage which invigorates and nourishes the slowly dying hair roots into a renewal of healthy normal action. New hair quickly grows on the thin spots, old hair stops falling, and the difference is apparent in a few days by the very look of the hair itself taking on new life, luster and beauty. Parisian Sage can be obtained from the Red Cross Pharmacy or any good druggist. It is not expensive.—Adv.
